Dear Parents/Caregivers

IRON AND CLAY ROCK!

The Iron and Clay Bus came around the corner of Forestry Road and the screams of delight went up. (groups of students were in Reading Rotations sitting in the Junior Playground)

At 11:45 the singers began the concert. There was laughter, giggles, smiles, dancing, shuffling, singing, solos.

The concert was over at 12:45 and the students couldn’t believe that an hour went so quick.

I would like to thank our Tuckshop Convenor Sherry, for organising lunch for the band members; they raved about how delicious and fresh the wraps and salads were.

Well Done Sherry!!!

Principal Award: Jasper Godfrey – demonstrating confidence in being himself. Jasper has a smile that makes all feel good about themselves.

Parent and Community Engagement- Working together to maximise student learning

We would appreciate all parents to become involved with their children’s learning. Research has indicated that parents or caregivers who are involved in their children’s learning at school and at home, their children will achieve at school.

I understand that some of parents and caregivers may not have had a positive experience at primary or secondary level and wish to have a low profile. Please, I urge all parents to give us a go and we may surprise you in what you experience at our school.

All the teachers are available to have a conversation/interview on how your child/ren is progressing. They will give you strategies or work samples that you can use at home.
Literacy – The Harvest Race: Book 2 in the Nutmobile Series
I would like to acknowledge Macadamia House Initiative: they have launched their second book in ‘Nosh the Nutmobile’. Congratulation to Yolande, Marc and Sue for this awesome reading material for our students and students Australia wide. There is an open invitation for Macadamia House to have a reading for Number 2 book read at our school. Our school was privileged to listen to the Number 1 Book in the series in the last 18 months.

Take a bow MACADAMIA HOUSE

STUDENT SCHOOL OPINION SURVEY
Over the last 2 days the Senior Students (5/6/7) completed their School Opinion Survey online. Each student was given an individual number and a password. I would like to thank our students for their maturity and their seriousness in how they completed this very important task.

Thank you to the parents who have already sent their survey back, but it isn’t too late for the others. Please have them to the office by Wednesday 7th for your opinion to count.

Parent Interviews
Over the last couple of weeks we have had a large number of parents accessing a teacher interview as requested in the recent report cards. On behalf of the teachers and myself I would like to thank all parents who have participated in this request. In week 10 of this term we will be offering a Parent Interview to discuss how your child has progressed over Term 3 and to set goals for the next term.

ZONE ATHLETICS

PY – 2 News
This week students enjoyed the “Iron and Clay” concert on Monday. The performers spread a very relevant message about anti-bullying and being proud of whom you are. On Tuesday we had a visit from the Rural Fire Services. They presented some students with prizes for the colouring competition and all students with a fire safety bag. We thank all our visitors for their contributions.

In the classroom we are getting ready for our first English assessment. Students will speak about a character from a familiar book and identify some of their emotions by making reference to events and illustrations. Our school is part of an Early Year’s Trial and I will be conducting two special assessment tasks with our prep students over the coming weeks. It is great that Bauple has been asked to be part of this trial. During Science we have been talking about different types of weather and what we wear and do during this weather. Number has continued to be a focus during Math time and we have also been revisiting clocks and time.

Enjoy the remainder of your week.

Classroom News 4-7

On Monday our students thoroughly enjoyed the Iron & Clay concert. One of the highlights was when the band invited some students to join them and show their talents. We had a lovely rendition of the cup song, some lively shuffling and awesome country dancing. That was the fourth performance from Iron and Clay and I think it is the energy of our students that makes them want to come back.

This week we are analysing a short story from Morris Gleitzman to investigate how authors create characters and settings. When grocery shopping, students in year 6 & 7 should be able to explain what the unit price labels mean. Students in year 4 & 5 have been exploring income and expenditure. In science we are continuing our studies of the different planets and the reasons for the seasons. I see plans are beginning to be drawn up for the Recycled Fashion that is being studied in SOSE.

Have a good week.

I had the pleasure of viewing Iron and Clay when they came to school on Monday and I must say they are fantastic, very enjoyable and the kids just loved them. School then provided them with lunch which was purchased through the school tuckshop.

Don’t forget we have our Father’s day stall coming up towards the end of August. If you can help with denotations of stuff to sell it would be great, the children really enjoyed shopping for mum. So let’s make this stall an enjoyable one for them too. TOMBOLA on the 30th August; any donations towards the Tombola would also be greatly appreciated. If you would like any information about these events please don’t hesitate to contact me or any member of the P & C. We will gladly help out with any questions.

CHOCONUTS: don’t forget about our wonderful Choconuts that we have for sale. They are $4 per bag and all moneys raised goes to the school. They are delicious. If you know somewhere or someone to sell them please contact Leanne, the more we have out the more money we can make for school.

Our next meeting is on Tuesday 20th August at 3:15pm in the staff room.

Thank you Sherry

All parents have the best of intentions when raising kids. Wanting what is best for kids can cause parents to make decisions that are not always in their (children’s) long term best interests.

If you buy the line that the promotion of resilience is in the best interests of kids then check out the following common parenting mistakes that reduce children’s resilience.

Robber #1: Fight all their battles for them
Nothing wrong with going into bat when kids struggle or meet with difficulty inside or outside school but make sure this is the last resort, not the first opinion.

- Resilience notion #1: Give kids the opportunity to develop their own resourcefulness.

Robber #2: Make their problem, your problem
Sometimes parents can take too much responsibility for issues that are really up to children to work out or decide. Here’s a clue if you are wondering what I am talking about: a jumper is something a mother puts on her son when she is cold!

- Resilience notion #2: Make their problem, their problem.

Robber #3: Give kids too much voice
In this era of giving children a voice it is easy to go overboard and allow them too much of a say in what happens to them. Kids often take the easy option to avoid hard or unpleasant situations.

- Resilience notion #3: Make decisions for kids and expect them to adjust and cope.

Robber #4: Put unrealistic or relentless pressure on kids to perform.
Expectations about success and achievement are important. Too low and kids will meet them. Too high and kids can give up. Too much and kids can experience anxiety.

- Resilience notion #4: Keep expectations in line with children’s abilities and don’t put excessive pressure on them.

Robber #5: Let kids give in too easily
Resilient learners link success and effort. They don’t give up because they don’t like a teacher or when confronted with multi-step or more complex activities. Similarly they don’t bail out of a sporting team half way through the season because the team is not winning or they are not enjoying it.

- Resilience notion #5: Encourage kids to complete what they have started even if the results aren’t perfect.

Robber #6: Neglect to develop independence
Don’t wait until they are teenagers to develop the skills of independent living. Start early and promote a broad skill set so that they can look after themselves if you are not around.

- Resilience notion #6: Don’t routinely do for kids what they can do for themselves.

Robber #7: Rescue kids from challenging or stretch situations
There are many times kids are put in situations that are outside their comfort zones for a time. For instance, give a talk, singing at the school concert or going on school camp may be challenges for some kids. They are all situations that kids usually cope with so show your confidence in them and skill them up rather than opt for avoidance.

- Resilience notion #7: Overcoming challenges enables kids to grow and improve.

Sometimes the manageable hardships that children experience such as a friend moving away, not being invited to a party or completing a difficult school project are fabulous learning opportunities.

They help kids to stretch and grow. Dealing with them effectively also teaches kids that they are capable of coping when they meet some of life’s curve balls. And that is a huge lesson to learn at any age.
